April 18, 2002

SYMPOSIUM OBJECTIVES

Towards 2010: Faculty of Engineering at UGA is a symposium designed to gain insight from state and national leaders about building strategic interdisciplinary engineering programs at the University of Georgia.

Objectives of the Symposium include:

- exploring the future engineering needs for strengthening Georgia's competitiveness,
- revealing how the Faculty of Engineering will integrate engineering and non-engineering activities to produce superior engineering education, engineering research and engineering outreach,
- understanding the roles of Georgia leaders in strengthening engineering at UGA for the benefit of the citizens of Georgia.
